UNIVERSITY LEADERSHIP SPOTLIGHT

The Center for PreCollege Programs proudly welcomed two distinguished leaders to the Rutgers University community whose presence underscored a deep commitment to student success and innovation. Tonya Smith-Jackson, Chancellor of Rutgers University–Newark, joined our scholars during their final presentations for the Create Academy App Development course, affirming the importance of creativity, technology, and student-driven innovation. Additionally, William F. Tate IV, President of Rutgers University, visited our Summer College and Career Institute, where he encouraged students to embrace their identities as leaders and reinforced a powerful college-going mindset. Together, these moments reflected Rutgers’ shared vision of access, excellence, and upward mobility for the next generation of scholars.
